GET TO KNOW WASHINGTON

Predictions are for mammoth crowds visting Washington this summer for the Bicentennial. Why not do some sightseeing now and beat the mobs. Have you visited Arlington House, Ford's Theatre or the Frederick Douglass Home? Have you really had a guided tour of the Kennedy Center or the Lincoln Memorial?

Now is your chance to see all of these famous sights with a trained guide who also happens to be a Gallaudet student. Several students have been involved in a program sponsored by the National Park Service and these students are now ready to give tours but unfortunately turnout has been rather poor.

Please help show the National Park Service that these guides, who give tours in total communication, are needed and that their service should be continued. Tour schedule is:

Arlington House: 11 a.m. each Sunday. Call 557-3153.

Ford's Theatre: Every Saturday. Tours can be arranged by calling 426-6924.

Frederick Douglass Home: Tuesdays from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Call 889-1736.

Kennedy Center: Saturdays at 10 a.m. Call 254-3850

Lincoln Memorial: Every Saturday at 2 p.m. For tours call 426-6895.
